Summary

Preacher: Mike Mathis

(1:11 - 1:30) Introduction to the Lesson

The speaker addresses both those present and those listening via phone, indicating that they are responsible for presenting the lesson for the day and the evening.

(1:31 - 2:09) Discussion on Past Sermons and Questions

Reflecting on past experiences, the speaker notes that they have never been directly questioned after a sermon but have received critical feedback. Recently, after discussing salvation without hearing of Jesus Christ, they were approached with a question regarding sanctification.

(2:13 - 3:49) Focus on Sanctification

The speaker introduces the topic of their lesson titled "Sanctified," sparked by a question referencing 1 Corinthians 7:14, which discusses the sanctification of an unbelieving spouse through a believing partner.

(3:52 - 5:54) Clarification on Sanctification vs. Salvation

The speaker clarifies that sanctification does not necessarily equate to salvation, using the example from 1 Corinthians where an unbelieving spouse is sanctified by the believing partner. They point out that this passage continues to address how a believing spouse's faith might influence an unbelieving partner.

(5:55 - 7:05) Further Exploration of Sanctification

The discussion turns to the context of separation or departure of an unbelieving spouse, emphasizing that sanctification does not bind one in such cases but rather, God calls for peace.

(7:06 - 10:17) Definition and Context of Sanctification

The speaker delves into the linguistic roots of 'sanctify' in Hebrew and Greek, meaning to set apart or separate. They use this to interpret the sanctification of the seventh day in Genesis 2 and the implications for understanding biblical texts through proper linguistic analysis.

(10:21 - 19:33) Creation and Sanctification of the Sabbath

The narrative returns to Genesis, emphasizing that God created the world in six days and rested on the seventh, which He sanctified. The speaker connects this to the commandment in Exodus 20 to keep the Sabbath holy, clarifying that the days referred to are literal 24-hour periods, not long eons.

(19:34 - 25:33) Sanctification in Leviticus and Exodus

Examples from Leviticus show how sanctification applies to land and property, while in Exodus, Mount Sinai and the people are sanctified for specific purposes, underlining the concept of being set apart for divine use or protection.

(25:35 - 26:53) Connection to Salvation

Finally, the speaker hints at the relationship between sanctification and salvation, promising to explore this further in the continuation of the lesson. They invite anyone interested in baptism to participate, linking this act to the process of salvation as described in the New Testament.

(26:54 - 27:14) Invitation for Church Matters

The speaker concludes by inviting anyone with other matters or concerns that need to be brought to the attention of the church to do so during the time when the congregation stands and sings, providing an opportunity for community interaction and resolution of issues.
